

This might just be the most important and valuable technical post I have made to you guys.

Typically, the correct technical action is to address what the client has his/her attention on and wants handled . . . the “trouble” is that, typically, clients have their attention stuck on the NEGATIVES of what is bothering them, the pains and upsets and failures to handle life and living.

Indeed, when I reconnected with Alan in 1994, and we got to discussing “The Tech” he actually mentioned that, apart from the disaster that Scn became, the big gain we got from it was that it “revealed to us the wrong way to address case!”

Scientology, basically and essentially, approaches case from the perspective of pursuing the NEGATIVES of what is “wrong” that has to be “fixed”! And, to be noted is the point that Scn organizational management is also very much the activity of finding out what is wrong that then has to be blasted out of existence.

In retrospect, I would say this approach to things would have suited the Founder of Scn as it caused so many folks to become dependent and subservient to his domination as they stived to be free from “what ailed them.”

And noted in the interview I did with Janis Gilham Grady and Mark Fisher (here: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=XA9fAsjY7cg> . . . Our Scientology Stories - Peeling the Onion), the insanity of Scn Organizations is that they have chronically targeted and destroyed the positive producers . . . all staff are reduced to operating as being effect of the oppressive environment. Staff are operating mainly from a position of fear of the consequences of not measuring up to expectations of the hierarchy above them and/or doing things the way they are expected to.

I am somewhat lucky. I got into Scn based on the pursuit of the positive of wanting to improve my athletic performance. Indeed, my first contact with it was while doing research into athletic performance and possible methods for its improvement.

Hence everything I did relative to Scn was in pursuit of the positives of better performance, more knowledge, bigger games, etcetera.

Hence I kept expanding in terms of knowledge, awareness and powers of performance.

Note how this principle of pursuing and processing the POSITIVE was applied in this advice I gave Mario here.

Hi Roger

Continuing processing and running Basic Chronic mood on Detachment the solution that I used was to create the decision "wanting to be accepted" and I spotted that it was created in the Heavens Universe .

Here In a state of boredom I started to neglect my infinite presence, I started to create unknown, forgetfulness in order to stimulate myself into a new level of existence.

At this point is it better to run "The heavens effects list" or "Heavens short form (too much) ?

Again my answer in red . . .

As to which of the rundowns to use, only you can determine that . . I am too far away to perceive which. . . But here is some basic old (1962-3) good and valid tech you can use to determine which.

Connect with the/this area of case and charge, and get the sense and feeling of it to determine (sense or recognize) whether your underlying relationship to the area/subject/thing is as you reaching to, at cause (outflowing to the connection); or is it you as receiver, inflowing (at effect) from the connection.

These are the two vectors of our Spiritual Life-Force that we basically use when relating. Remember we used this basic fact when we listed for the Negative Code in the Codes Rundown . . . The trick being: are you opposing the thing or is it opposing you.

Hence one can get the truth of the situation as you being outflowing, reaching to cause; or otherwise as you originally affected by the connection outflowing onto you and you being at effect as the receiver.

This is a piece of tech now lost in Scn, that related to the old Goals Problem Mass processes that sought to unlock the "Line Plot" of opposing and thus locked and hung-up identities of the Goals pursued that underlied the hung up mass . . . That is: your vector of Life-Force hung up was either you at Cause (Opposing) or you At Effect (Being Opposed).

Ummm, rather than feeling you need to process this area from an unknowing/effect position, try processing it from the position of source (and as the Causer) . . . Note what I highlighted in BLUE. . . Assume the position of CAUSE and Source and run the Sovereign Knowing Voluntary Replication Technique (REPEATER Technique) on it!! 😊

That is, you sourced and created the scenario that is now charged when you created the solution to handle the unwanted.

Rog 😊
